CINCINNATI DIAMOND ROBBERY.
NINE THOUSAND DOLLARS' WORTH STOLEN IN THE EXPOSITION.
[From the Cincinnati Enquirer.]
A diamond robbery almost unparalled in this city for boldness and neatness in plan of execution, occurred in the main hall of the Exposition Buildings. Nearly $9,000 worth of gems were taken from the display show-case of Clemens Oskamp, the Vine street jeweler, some time, it appears, between 8:35 A.M. and 9:05 or 9:10 A.M. There is not the slightest clew to the perpetrator at present, although several persons were taken into custody and held by the Police on suspicion for a considerable length of time, and subsequently released on their identity being established. Oskamp's display is almost in the centre of the Music Hall. The case is a large double one, and between the two compartments which contained silverware rests a show-case upon a table which does not reach above the breast of an ordinary-sized man. This case is probably five feet long by three feet wide, and a foot deep. In it are three trays covered with red velvet. The oldest tray contained the diamonds, and on the others are a number of valuable watches. Entrance is effected into the case by lifting up the entire top, which is fastened by two very small padlocks. It is not an easy thing for one man to lift the top, as it is very heavy. The locks are about the size of the end of a man's thumb. They are known as English steel padlocks, and Mr. Oskamp says they are very fine and difficult to open. They were purchased at a Main street hardware store. The keys are smaller than a watch-key, and different. The staples are of blue steel, and riveted on the inside. If a thief had no keys to those locks, which, however, are not difficult to get, it certainly does not appear that he would find much trouble in picking or demolishing the tiny things.

The theft, according to the stories of the Exposition Police, officials and other employes, was first discovered by some scrub woman. Officer Armstrong, as was his usual custom in the morning, went to Wayne's stand, where he got some stuff with which to polish his badge. As he rubbed his badge with the powder he stepped over to the left side of the Oskamp case, and saw the diamonds and watches all in their right place. He is sure they had not been disturbed then, which, as near as he can tell, was about 8:10 o'clock. At 9 o'clock, or perhaps a few minutes later, Mrs. Barton, an employe, noticed that there had been some disturbance in the part of the case where the diamonds were kept, and just then Officer M. S. Kirby, who had left roll-call in the front part of the building, came along, and, seeing the diamonds had been removed, gave the alarm. It was found that the two locks had been removed, but the staples remained in their places, showing that there had been little or no force used. The thief might have had a key for one, and picked or broke the other, as a small hasp was found on the floor by Capt. Wise, Chief of the Exposition Police. Still, it may be that the hasps of both were cut or broken. This would be an easy thing to do with a pair of nippers. Only a small portion of the sparklers remained, and they were scattered about promiscuously, showing that the thief had quickly snatched what he got. An alarm was immediately given, and Mr. Oskamp was soon on the scene, and also the detectives of the regular force, who were telephoned for. A woman who sat in the gallery, on the left or south side, come down, and said she had noticed a man open the case and take something out of it. She paid little attention, thinking the man was an employe at work. She told Capt. Wise the man looked to her to be white, about 5 feet, 7 inches in height, blonde, light hair and mustache, wearing dark coat, light pants, and Derby hat. Subsequently this woman could not be found by an Enquirer reporter, although some said she gave her name as Mrs. Barton.

The doors were locked throughout the building, and the Exposition Police took a couple of colored employes who had been dusting cases near Oskamp's into the Commissioners' office and searched them and then let them go. Mr. Oskamp thinks the Police force ought to have managed to keep their eyes open sufficiently to prevent a thief from opening his case in broad daylight and stealing his gems. In former years Mr. Oskamp removed the diamonds from his display case at nights, but this Exposition they remained on the tray from the first day until they were taken yesterday. The padlocks are really little more than those used on dog-collars, although it is claimed they are of a superior make. One good twist with a strong pair of pincers would bring the lock staple and all. Still, it was a great and bold risk to make the "sneak." The stolen property is described by Mr. Oskamp as follows:

	Value.
One diamond lace-pin, seven stones,	$125
One diamond lace-pin, one stone,	75
One diamond lace-pin, fourteen stones,	150
One diamond lace-pin, five stones,	125
One diamond lace-pin, six stones,	150
One cluster brooch-pin, 500 diamonds,	1,500
One cluster-pin,	750
One round pendant-pin,	1,800
One pair solitaire ear-drops,	600
One pair solitaire ear-drops,	750
One pin, cresent and star,	1,200
One lace-pin, ten stones,	250
One lace-pin, one stone,	250
One lace-pin, five stones,	150
One lace-pin, six stones,	500
One lace-pin, thirteen stones,	125
One scarf-pin, diamond cat's-eye,	300
	125
Total,	$8,925

The gates of the Exposition are opened at various hours. Those for employes or exhibitors is opened at 7 o'clock, although visitors are allowed to enter by it. The gate for railroad coupon tickets opens at 8 o'clock, and the regular one at 9 o'clock. The keeper of the upper railroad gate says the first to pass in his way yesterday morning were two suspicious-looking men who had regular tickets of admission. One was young, good looking, and wore a large job. The other he cannot describe. There seems to be no doubt that the diamonds were stolen during the time mentioned at the beginning of this article. A reward of $1,000 is offered by Mr. Oskamp for the thief and goods, or a proportion of the amount will be given for the recovery of any part of the property.

Mr. Wm. E. Hatch, of Brunswick, has resigned the Principalship of the High School at Branford, Conn., and accepted the lucrative and honorable position of Superintendent of schools in Wilford, Mass. Mr. Hatch is a graduate of Bowdoin College, class 75.

SOUTHERN POLITICS.

Outrageous Treatment of Republican Orators in South Carolina.

[Special dispatch to the Boston Journal.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. Hon. J. Hendrick McLane, nominee of the combined opposition to the Bourbon Democracy for Governor of South Carolina, reached Washington to-day, and detailed at some length his treatment at the hands of the red shirted Democracy at Winnsboro' on Sept. 25. He says that on his arrival at that place to keep his engagement he was informed that Colonel Thompson, the Bourbon Candidate for Governor, had the week before, while addressing the people, said: "You remember the reception you gave Taft here in 1880? Well, when McLane comes here on the 25th give him the same kind of a reception or a worse one." This was received with loud shouts of "We will." Taft, a Republican orator, who was thus alluded to, was mobbed at Winnsboro' by the red shirted Democracy. "Soon after my arrival," said Mr. McLane, "I was called upon at my hotel by Col. Woodard, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee of Fairfield county, and asked what my programme was. I told him that I had come there to fill an appointment to speak, which had been advertised some two weeks, and having heard that it was the intention of his party to mob me and prevent the meeting from being held, I had simply to say that I should speak, or somebody else should be responsible for preventing me. He admitted that Thompson had used the language attributed to him, but that he thought he could control his men if they did not get drunk. He admitted, however, that whiskey had been freely given to the red shirters, and that they were using it pretty freely, for which he expressed regret. He said: 'I pledge you my honor as a man that you shall not be treated with violence, if I can prevent it.' He then went out and consulted with his party friends, and on his return with assurances that I should be allowed to speak, I started for the Court House. Col. Woodard took my right arm, and my little daughter, who was with me, walked on my left side, having hold of my hand. On reaching the landing on the second floor of the hotel, we met a mob of red shirted Democrats, filling the stairway and corridors. One of these men sprang forward and caught me by the collar of my shirt with such violence as to tear it open. Col. Woodard then threw himself between me and the mob, and crowded me back through the hall and into the open door of the hotel parlor, the mob following so closely upon us that one of them kicked me most violently. This was about 12 o'clock noon, and for seven hours it required the utmost efforts and vigilance of several personal Democratic friends to prevent my being mobbed, and perhaps murdered. I was posted to speak at Lancaster, but failed to reach the place. The Independent candidate for Congress, Col. Cash, was there and spoke, after which a riot ensued and several colored men were killed."

Mr. McLane says the main issue in the present campaign is the establishment of free speech, a pure ballot and an honest count of all votes cast. On this platform all Nationals, Republicans, Independents and many honest Democrats are united and working earnestly and harmoniously together. With an untrammelled vote we can elect our ticket by a majority of at least 50,000. We are now preparing for a still more vigorous prosecution of the campaign, and, as for myself, there is but one way for the Bourbons to stop my canvass, and that is to kill or disable me. I shall resume my work by a speech at Camden, where Col. Blair was killed on the 11th ult.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The Lewiston Journal says: A large number of tramps, who probably drifted here during the week of the State Fair now infest the city. Numerous times each day people are stopped on Lower Main and Lincoln streets and asked for money. One gentleman says he was stopped four different times coming from Auburn to Lisbon street. Thursday night a man was stopped by a tramp, in Auburn, who seized him by the shoulders and demanded money. The gentleman made an outcry, and an officer came to his assistance and arrested the tramp. One of the toughest looking customers that has been seen in the city for a long time was arrested on lower Lisbon street, Thursday evening. It is noticeable that all these tramps are rough, hard looking characters, evidently accustomed to hard life. These tramps are becoming so numerous, and so bold and insolent in their demands that something decided will have to be done at once. Every such character should be watched and if necessary arrested and locked up.

Saturday evening, Oct 21st, will be the first anniversary of the organization of Burnside Post, of Auburn. Custer Post, of Lewiston, and Bosworth Post, of Portland have accepted invitations to a grand camp fire in Auburn Hall, on that evening in celebration of the event. The new Post numbers 150 members.

Cumberland.

Friday Mr. Jack Tennant, engine shifter at the Boston and Maine depot, Portland, saved a man's life at the risk of his own. The man attempted to pass directly in front of a moving engine, and was struck by it and thrown, when Mr. Tennant sprang to his rescue and seizing him by the collar dragged him by main strength upon the platform. It was a narrow escape.

Hon. Sidney Perham has been engaged to deliver the annual address before the Harrison and Bridgton Farmers' Club. It will be given at the meeting on the evening of the 14th.

Captain Nash, of the brig Orbit, from Yabucoa, Porto Rico, for Portland, with molasses, now at Vineyard Haven, reports that they had several very narrow escapes not only of the vessel, but of their lives. The vessel lost rudder and sails in the South channel, and though the crew tried to head the vessel off shore, she made right close in, passed the Pollock Rip Light ship, grazing her chain as she crossed her bow. The Orbit got inside and anchored off Nantucket, and rode out the gale from Wednesday until Sunday, when a tug boat towed her to the Vineyard.

Mr. A. H.S. Davis, formerly proprietor of the Farmington Chronicle, afterwards foreman of the government printing office, at Washington, is now a broker at the National Capitol.—Augusta Journal.

The Phonograph says two or three weeks ago, while a drove of cattle were being driven from Phillips through Weld, a cow became wild, when near Weld, and attacked one of the drivers, getting him down and tried to pin him with her horns. She plunged her horns, one on each side of him, into the ground several times. Another man came to the rescue, and taking the cow by a horn and the nose, threw her upon the ground and held her until a bag was brought and tied over her eyes. She was still so crazy that she had to be left at Weld, and is yet there.

The Phonograph says that through the efforts of Fish Commissioner Stanley and the Oquossoc Angling Association, men are now hired to guard certain points where trout gather in large numbers on the spawning beds. From these places unless guarded, trout might be slaughtered in large numbers by unprincipled fishermen. One day last week, on the big lake, a too arduous fisherman hooked a six pound trout by the tail, and succeeded in landing him. This, of course, was contrary to the laws of protection, and the matter coming to Commissioner Stanley's attention, he compelled the trout to be returned to the water (still being alive) and the fisherman was given the privilege of leaving these haunts or of standing prosecution. He left.

The Augusta Journal says: Saturday morning two ladies who arrived on the 2 o'clock train, while on their way home from the depot, discovered a burglar in the store of Greenleaf Haskell, East Side. They immediately returned and notified Officers Tyler and Thorndike, who hastened to the store and found that the thief had changed his base of operations to Wm. Kingsbury's store, near the bridge where he was captured and taken to the station. He effected an entrance in the latter place by breaking out a pane of glass in the door. When taken he had about $1.60 in money, a few pieces of tobacco and some candy. He gave the name of George Robinson, and said he belongs in Philadelphia. He is a tramp.

Lincoln.

A little girl of Allen Brown, of Edgecomb, met with a severe and painful accident last week. She and a little boy were in her father's shop, when the boy took up a large horse pistol which he did not know was loaded, pointed it in her direction and it suddenly went off. The charge of small shot struck her in both wrists, filling them full, and badly lacerating them. She was attended by a physician from Damariscotta who removed nearly a dozen shots and dressed the wound. She is doing as well as can be expected, and he thinks will not lose the use of either wrist.

GENERAL BUTLER'S ACCEPTANCE.

[Providence Journal.]

General Butler's letters accepting the nominations of the Democratic and the Greenback parties of Massachusetts are published after a considerable delay. It is impossible to avoid considering them as specimens of political humor, and, although they are undoubtedly intended to be taken seriously by a portion of General Butler's constituents, we shall probably do him no injustice in supposing his frame of mind in writing them was similar to that in which he impresses a particularly doubtful point of law or shady piece of evidence upon judge and jury by assuming that it is axiomatic in principle or indisputable in fact. Gen. Butler commences his letter to the Democrats by saying that the unforced unanimity with which he was nominated touches every sensibility. The sly humor of this is indisputable, even without any allusion to the sensibility, when it is notorious that but a short time ago the party was rent in twain by his rape of the nomination, and that the only thing that forces the unanimity now is the certainty on the part of the respectable members of the party that it is in vain to resist, and that the mob would have their way without them, if they did not with them. The Democratic unanimity in favor of Butler was produced by a club, and that is all there is about that.

Pursuing his theme General Butler announces that he did not desire to be a candidate, which may be accepted by those who believe that his henchmen would have put him forward without his orders; and, farther, that the demands of his personal and professional business are such that it was a question whether they could be laid aside. General Butler's business is undoubtedly large and absorbing, and cannot be abandoned without considerable loss, but it may be doubted whether it is relatively any more important and valuable now than on the previous occasions, when it was sacrificed to his desire to serve the State, and probably no great injustice is done in supposing that General Butler's consideration for his business interests has been dependent, in a considerable degree, on how readily the liquor interest responded in voluntary contributions to the campaign, and that this having been arranged satisfactorily, the question of justice to his clients has been answered in favor of his duty to the people of Massachusetts.

Having thus cleared the ground in regard to personal considerations, General Butler proceeds to express his views in relation to political principles. He explains that while he has sometimes changed relations with those with whom he has acted politically, he has not changed his principles, and by inference, of course, that his voting for Jefferson Davis in the Charleston Convention was in the line of his later advocacy of the force bill. In regard to civil service reform, he asserts that during his twenty years of public life he never asked a capable and honest officer to give way to any appointee of his recommendation, which is true upon the supposition that every capable and honest officer must, in the nature of things, have been in favor of his political and military fortunes. As a stroke of more purely professional humor, General Butler urges that he is willing to accept a competitive examination of fitness for the position of Governor, which a considerable portion of his followers will undoubtedly consider a very smart retort on his part. His views of other national questions may be briefly summarized. The bunting manufacturer, whose industry was protected by the most exorbitant tariff ever laid for the benefit of an American industry, thinks that protection may be carried too far.

The creator and engineer of the back pay bill denounces national extravagance in every form, and particularly the late river and harbor appropriation, having, by the way, a short time ago, declared that Mr. Crapo was not to blame in voting for it. In State affairs, General Butler is in favor of economy, and declares that there is a great deal of wasteful expenditure without giving any particular instance; and winds up with the latest plea on his behalf to the effect that he is growing old and can have no ambition nor desire except to redeem his fame and rule the State well, concerning which there might be an interesting apologue in relation to the Cardinal who got himself elected Pope by appearing to be on the verge of the grave, but who lived long enough to bury his rivals and to show an uncommon degree of vigor in punishing his enemies.

But if General Butler's letter of acceptance to the Democrats is rich in humor, that to the Greenbackers is nothing less than a roaring joke. He begins by assuring them that they might as well disband, having accomplished their purpose, which was to establish the greenback on a par with gold. The exquisite satire of this to persons who, if they had carried out their ends, would have flooded the country with irredeemable currency, and who repudiated the gold standard as a delusion and a curse must be apparent, even to them. He concludes with a record of his services to the workingmen and of his opposition to monopolies, which those employed in his mills or purchase his bunting will probably take in a strictly Pickwickian sense. Altogether if General Butler has not convinced the people of Massachusetts of his sincerity or of the necessity of electing him Governor, he has contributed his usual share of amusement to the canvass and shown that he has not lost his powers as a political humorist.

The result in Delaware opens up a prospect of permanently capturing that State for the Republican party. Only inspectors of election and assessors were voted for Tuesday, but the Democratic majority on the former is only 285, while the Republicans have a majority of 113 on the vote for assessors. The majorities of the three counties which comprise the State are thus officially reported, with comparisons with the majorities of 1880:

	1882.		1880.
	Assessors.	Inspectors.	Garfield.	Hancock.
Kent,	222 R.	17 R.
New Castle,	30 D.	194 D.	103	625
Sussex,	96 D.	108 D.		690

This comparison shows oddly enough that Tuesday's gains were made in the Democratic county of Kent, and that the Republican county of New Castle was lost. Now that the Republicans have discovered what they can do, let them move forward for the Legislature and Senator Saulsbury's seat in November.—Portland Press.

SMART CHICKENS REPUBLICAN.

[N. Y. Tribune.]

Democratic chickens are usually counted before they are hatched, with good reason. They count better then. But the satisfaction of the Democratic party at the prospect in a few of the States, it may be as well to observe, is mainly based upon Republican discord or dissatisfaction in respect to the State tickets. A close observer will fail to discover any such discord in regard to Congressional nominations. In the main, the Republicans in the different districts have selected candidates for Congress without Federal dictation or interference, and their selections have generally been satisfactory to the voters of the party. Indeed, in quite a number of instances this year men have been selected who have strength not only with the regular and unswerving partisans, but also with many Democratic or Independent voters. Republican nominations for Congress, even in the Eastern States where there has been most difficulty, are probably stronger by many thousand votes in the aggregate than the State tickets in the same States. In not a few districts, too, Republican success is expected because the Democrats have nominated most unwisely.

This state of facts is especially gratifying because the control of the next House of Representatives is of great importance. All know how that body is used by the Democrats, when they have control of it, during the session preceding a Presidential election. The country has had experience in that matter, and wants no more. Nothing need be said of the scavenger work upon which the Democrats on such occasions mainly rely. They proceed at once to organize what are theoretically smelting committees, but are really campaign lie factories, and these committees spend the session in fishing from the gutter of political infamy all the perjured evidence that redhanded and other liars can give against prominent Republicans. Experience has taught that this sort of thing, though it may be annoying, does not injure the Republican party in the least. The Democratic campaign slander, in about nine cases out of ten, is a gun that kicks harder than it shoots. The Republican party will live and conquer forever, if it is never beaten until the Democrats can defeat it by the volleys of mud which their engines discharge in a political contest.

Not on account of the Republican party, but on account of the country, its industries and its business, the control of the next House by the Democrats is to be peculiarly deprecated. The Republican party would profit by Democratic mistakes, and it is not in the nature of that party to have even a taste of power without making itself indescribably disgusting. It would happen, too, if the Democrats should gain control in Congress, that the Republicans would be relieved from inconvenient responsibilities in regard to several matters. Partywise, it would perhaps be a fortunate thing for the Republicans to be rid of all legislative responsibility before the next election and to be able to reap a harvest from Democratic misdeeds. But it would not be a good thing for the country.

From the beginning of a Democratic session to the end, every great industry and every important branch of business would be exposed to peril. The committees would be so organized as to give encouragement to the wildest and most destructive schemes. The mere dread of such legislation, as everybody has learned by experience, would go far to produce stagnation of all business. Capital would seek its hiding places, lest it should be caught by revolutionary measures; industrial establishments would be stopped for lack of adequate capital immediately available; labor would be disorganized and deprived of employment; foreign trade would be checked by the prospect of a radical change in duties; securities would be subjected to great depression by threats of communistic action against railroads by Democratic demagogues; all this we have seen more than once as the consequence of Democratic control in Congress on the eve of a Presidential election, and must expect to see again if that party gets power for harm.

It is the duty as well as the public interest of Republican voters, whether laborers, capitalists or business men, to make every honorable effort to prevent these disasters. There is not the slightest reason for electing Democrats to Congress because a Republican State ticket is deemed unsatisfactory. In the States where the greatest objection is made to the State tickets, there ought to be all the more earnest and determined effort to elect members of Congress who will not expose all industry and business to peril by their very first vote, in the choice of a Democratic Speaker. It makes little difference whether a Democratic member claims to be for hard money or soft money, for protection to home industry or for the worst form of free trade, for public faith or for repudiation; in any case, he must be expected to obey his caucus, and to vote for the man nominated for Speaker by the majority of his party associates. What that majority wants, and tries to do, the country has learned by bitter experience.

It is, therefore, the more important that the New York State Committee, while berating sincere Republicans because they object to the work of the State Convention, should at least take care to select a candidate for Congressman-at-Large who can certainly be elected. It would be an act not merely of folly, but of actual treachery to the party in its largest interests, to put up an objectionable candidate for that position.

Major Townsend, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State in Ohio, has just returned from a tour through all the counties bordering on the Ohio river. Mr. Townsend says that the feeling in that section is very much better than he had reason to anticipate; that the Republicans were making gains every day. The people had finally found that there was an issue, and that it was one between free whisky on one side and law and order on the other, and the latter was sure to triumph. On being asked if he regarded it safe to predict the success of the Republican ticket by ten thousand, the Major replied: "Certainly; my opinion, however, is that it will be less than fifteen thousand."

The Republicans will doubtless lose heavily in Cleveland and Cincinnati, but it is generally believed at the Republican headquarters that the gains in the country will be sufficient to overcome the defection in the cities caused by the passage of the Smith Sunday law.

The Republicans are pretty sure of electing fourteen of the twenty-one Congressmen; this estimate, however, concedes the two Congressmen at Cincinnati to the Democrats.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Ex-Gov. Dingley, of Maine, is of the opinion that four or five thousand men in that State, who voted for Gov. Plaisted in 1880, voted the Republican ticket this year. In explanation of this change it may be sufficient to say that Gen. Cary and Mr. E. M. Boynton had the run of the State two weeks prior to the election.—Boston Journal.

PERSONAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Mrs. Mehnert, who is 99 years old, has kept the Golden Trumpet Hotel, Reichenbach, Germany, for eighty consecutive years, and is still hale and hearty.

There were imported into the United States last year 216,786 gallons of olive oil valued at $380,428, and paying a duty of $1 per gallon. Of this, it is said by Dr. Charles W. Dabney that one-fourth was cotton seed oil exported from the United States.

By a recent order of the Warden convicts in the Massachusetts State Prison are to wear beards if they choose so to do, and about 60 per cent are availing themselves of the privilege. Of course it greatly changes their appearance, and it is said that the wife and mother of one of the prisoners called to see him recently, and, for quite a time, neither could recognize him.

Col. J. McLeod Turner, who died recently in North Carolina, was wounded dreadfully during the war, having altogether been pierced by 11 balls. He was wounded through the lungs, through the body, was shot through the spine, besides receiving lesser wounds. Both legs were paralyzed, one arm partially, his shoulder was dislocated and many of his bones were broken, and became diseased. His continued existence seemed a miracle.

A German chemist has invented a bullet which he believes will greatly diminish, if not altogether remove, the horrors of war. The missile is of a brittle substance, which breaks when it strikes the object fired at. It contains a powerful anæsthetic, producing instantaneously complete insensibility, lasting for twelve hours, which, except that the action of the heart continues, is not to be distinguished from death. A battle field, where these bullets are used will in a short time be apparently covered with dead bodies, but in reality merely with the prostrate forms of soldiers reduced for the time being to a state of unconsciousness. While in this condition they may be carefully packed in ambulance wagons and carried off as prisoners. Whole cities may in like manner be reduced to helplessness by means of shells charged with the same compound.

J. A. Hubbell, chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee, has been summoned to Michigan by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his wife.

The pid report is again received that Secretary Folger will certainly resign within a short time, and that his resignation will very likely be tendered to the President at the Cabinet meeting to be held in New York at the President's house on Lexington avenue, to-day, prior to the departure of the Cabinet for Boston. It is expected that all the Cabinet officers, as well as Attorney-General Brewster, who is in Philadelphia, will accompany the President from New York to Boston.—Wash. Cor. Boston Journal.

The organization of a strong Republican campaign club in Manchester and the hearty co-operation of Hon. Moody Currier's friends give a quietus to the hopes of the Democrats that their ticket in New Hampshire will be elected by Republican votes. The Nashua Telegraph says that "the Republicans of the whole State are now in line, and henceforth the campaign will be one of vigor and victory. That's the motto for this year."

The New York Home Journal says: "The White House will no longer be without a mistress, as the President's son is to be wedded next month to Miss Crowley, of New York. And the Vice President will no longer keep bachelor's hall, as he is soon to be married to a lady of North Carolina. As a consequence of these two weddings, a very gay winter is anticipated at the capitol."

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, Guardian of Charles B. and Alma E. Jewett, of Dixmont, minor heirs of Joseph D. Jewett, late of Dixmont, in said County, deceased, respectfully represents that said minors are seized and possessed of the following described real estate, viz: One fifth each in common and undivided of the following parcels of land situate in said Dixmont and being same described in deeds to Joseph D. Jewett, to wit: Deed of Charles Bickford, dated April 3, 1867, recorded in Vol. 330, page 329, of Penobscot Registry of Deeds; Deed of Burket Emery, dated September 8, 1868, recorded in said Registry, in Vol. 360, page 307, and deed from Jonathan Porter, dated September 18, 1869, recorded in said Registry, in Vol. 392, page 471, to which deed and records reference is made for description of same. Said real estate comprising the late homestead of said Joseph D. Jewett, (and the lands connected therewith), the father of said minors and their interest therein descended to them as his heirs at law.

That it would be for the benefit of said minors that said Real Estate should be sold, and the proceeds thereof put out at interest, or otherwise used for their benefit.

He therefore prays that license may be granted him to sell and convey the above described real Estate at public or private sale according to the requirement of law.

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS.

The Aroostook Association.

FORT FAIRFIELD, Oct. 9. The Saturday afternoon session of the Aroostook Educational Association met at 2 P. M., according to adjournment. A paper was read by N. H. Martin upon Reviews, followed by remarks on the same subject by N. A. Luce. The query box was then opened. The most prominent question discussed was in regard to the use of temperance text books in the schools. Messrs. Luce, Sawyer and Mrs. Johnson, of Presque Isle, took part in the discussion. A vote of thanks was given to Hon. N. A. Luce for his services and to the people for their entertainment of the members. Meeting then adjourned to meet in February at Caribou.

FROM PORTLAND.

The Trial of Harris.

PORTLAND, Oct. 9. The Harris trial was continued this morning. Mr. Kirk, of the Boston printing office where the circulars were printed, was recalled. He recognized Hooper as the young man who accompanied the person who came to read the proof of the circular. Frank C. Emery, assistant postmaster, testified to receiving certain letters which were placed in box 796. U. S. Deputy Marshal Marble testified to the circumstances of the arrest of Harris in Portland post office. Mr. Marble went to Boston at Harris' request to arrest Hooper. Harris gave them a letter to B-ggy, requesting his assistance, when the letter was presented. Mr. Chency, cashier of the post office, testified that August 14 h, he let box 796 to a man about twenty who gave the name of Thos. A. Campbell. J. C. Wade, reporter, and Postmaster Goddard, testified to unimportant interviews with the prisoner. Mr. Barry, of Boston, opened for the defence. He claimed that no evidence had been introduced proving the existence of a conspiracy. James W. Harris was the first witness for the defence. Adjourned till afternoon.

The Defence.

The cross examination of James W. Harris was continued. The question as to whether he had been arraigned before the Supreme Court in Suffolk county, Mass., was excluded as was one in regard to some business cards and toys. The witness said he came from Boston Saturday night with Sarah Pierce. Went to our post office at nine o'clock, but found so many letters in the box that he started to put them back when he was arrested.

Luther M. Harris was then called. He was handed a document which was, afterwards read to the Court, who refused to receive Harris' testimony. Henry M. Briggs testified that he had known James W Harris twenty-five years. He has acted as my attorney; knew Luther M. Harris and Hooper; never heard of this transaction until he read it in a Boston paper; went round to Harris' office and saw a detective there. They said they were after a man who had given Harris a key to the post office box. I told Hooper the detectives were after him. Came to Portland three times before I was arrested.

The testimony is all in and arguments commenced.

Bell Boat Disabled.

PORTLAND, Oct. 9. The revenue cutter Woodbury, Capt. Abbey arrived to-night and reports the bell boat off White Head Muscle Ridge Channel half sunk and inoperative. One end of the boat shows above water, presenting the appearance of a large round buoy. The lightbouse tender has started to take up the boat.

A Serious Accident

CALAIS, Oct. 9. G. G. McGlashan, Superintendent of the Maine Red Granite Works at Red Beach, was thrown from his carriage this afternoon, breaking his arm and sustaining injuries about the head and shoulders.

Death of Mrs. Anson P. Morrill.

PORTLAND, Oct. 9. Mrs. Rowena W. Morrill, wife of Anson P. Morrill, of Augusta, died Sunday morning, suddenly, aged seventy-three years. She was the youngest daughter of the late John Richardson, of Attleboro, Mass. She leaves two children, nine grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Death of a Venerable Lady.

DOVER, Oct. 9. Mrs. Mary Ann, wife of the venerable Dr. Nathan Low, died this morning at the family residence. She was a sister to Hon. Wm. Hale, and also to Mrs. Jeremiah Smith, who died a few days since. She was born Nov. 4, 1798. Her husband, who is over ninety years, is in very delicate health.

RHODE ISLAND.

The Sprague Estate.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 9. An action of trespass and ejectment to recover possession of the Canonchet estate has been commenced against ex-Gov. Sprague by the trustee of the bankrupt estate in the Supreme Court of Washington county. The case will probably come up at the November term.

VIRGINIA.

An Incorrect Report.

RICHMOND, Oct. 9. There is no truth in the report circulating in the North that Messrs. Smith and Wise fought a duel today. Both gentlemen were seen on the streets of Richmond to-day.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Strike Predicted.

ROTHERHAM, Eng., Oct. 9. At a conference here of delegates representing 29,000 colliers, it was resolved that notices to employers for an advance of 15 per cent. be given. The masters of the meeting Friday refused to accede to the demand and it is probable a strike will be ordered.

The Iron Workers.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9. The report that arrangements have been made with Swift's Rolling Mill workmen to resume Wednesday is now pronounced unfounded, and it is said at a meeting of the proprietors, held to consider the situation, it was agreed to stand together by their construction of the agreement. President Jarrett, of the Amalgamated Iron Workers Association, telegraphed that he would arrive to-morrow, when it is likely a conference will be held that will settle the difficulty.

Loss of the Steamer Herder.

The Passengers and Crew Saved.

A Portion of the Cargo all Right.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Oct. 9. The steamer Herder, Tichbirn master, of the Hamburg line, with mails, passengers and a general cargo, from New York bound to Hamburg, ran ashore on the eastward head of Long Beach, about three miles west of Cape Race, at two o'clock this morning during a dense fog. She had 170 passengers and a crew of 118. All were landed without accident. The Herder was 3,500 tons. Her passengers and crew will be brought here by special steamer and cared for by the German Consul. It is believed that the ship and cargo will be a total loss.

Later.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 9. The following additional information has been received from the operator at Cape Race respecting the loss of the steamer Herder: the ship left New York the afternoon of Thursday last and experienced fine weather up to yesterday evening, when a dense fog set in and the necessary precautions were taken to avoid, if possible, accidents liable to occur under such circumstances. Everything went on as usual and no danger was apprehended until two o'clock this morning when the ship suddenly and before the officers were aware of her proximity to land, ran on the rocks immediately eastward of the head of Long Beach, about three miles west of Cape Race. There were 288 persons on board, namely, 170 passengers and a crew of 118 all told.

All were landed safely at daylight in the eight boats belonging to the ship, and are now being well cared for by the few families living near the scene of the wreck. The passengers and crew speak in the highest terms of the conduct of Capt. Tichiben and his officers, who were remarkably cool and self possessed throughout. The baggage of the passengers and all mails, 76 bags, were saved. The ship is certain to be a total wreck, but it is believed some of the cargo will be saved in good condition. Parties just from the wreck report that the Herder lies across the small cove with the starboard side completely under water. There is little probability of the hull breaking up as long as the wind continues from its present point—northwest; but should it veer further to the westward a heavy sea would be sure to heave in and make it impossible to do anything worth while in the way of taking out the cargo.

As soon as the intelligence of the disaster reached here, the German Consul, R. H. Prouse, Esq., hired the steamer Neptune and despatched her to the assistance of the shipwrecked people. She left for Cape Race at six o'clock this evening taking a large supply of provisions, the Consul having ascertained by telegraph that only a small portion of the ship's stores had been saved.

Another Despatch.

Purser Meyer says the passengers were perfectly cool and manifested no disposition to disregard orders. They are now in the tents made of the sails saved from the wreck, there being only only two houses at Long Beach. The ship continues in the same position. Some fishing boats are gathering around, but more out of curiosity than anything else, and no danger of an attempt to meddle with the cargo is apprehended. The valuable silver, three cases of specie, etc., were saved this evening, nothing remaining on board now but the cabin furniture and cargo. The passengers and crew are expected to reach St. John to-morrow evening.

FROM WASHINGTON.

A Report that Secretary Folger has Resigned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. Secretaries Lincoln, Chandler and Teller will, at the request of the President, leave to-night for New York, where a Cabinet meeting will be held to-morrow. It is understood the object of the meeting is to take action on Secretary Folger's resignation.

The Alleged Bribery.

Mr. H. H. Wells, the newly appointed special United States Attorney, who has been intrusted with the conduct of the investigation into the alleged Star Route "jury fixing" transactions, was engaged this morning in a careful study of a large number of affidavits already taken and of other evidence now in the possession of the government relating to the case. It is not likely that any legal proceedings will be instituted immediately.

Indian Visitors.

A delegation of Sax and Fox Indians, of Iowa, accompanied by Agent Davenport, had a conference with Indian Commissioner Price, this morning. The Indians, seven in number, represent about twenty-five members of their tribe who are opposed to signing receipts for annuities; three hundred and twenty-five members of the tribe have already signed, but the minority insist upon an amendment to the law, and refuse to accept the money due them. It appears they entertain a superstition that if they sign for the money they will die. Commissioner Price informed the delegates that the money due their tribe, some $1,000, would be withheld until every one belonging to it had signed the roll. They appeared at the Department in war paint and wore an abundance of feathers. Two or three carried tomahawks, bows and arrows and bludgeons.

Salter and Ward Arraigned.

Salter and Ward, the persons charged with conspiracy to obtain possession of Government property from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Bundy this afternoon. They waived examination and were committed for trial in default of $2,000.

THE ROSS MURDER.

The Police Searching for a Clue.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9. Most active work is being done by the police under the stimulus of the heavy reward offered for the arrest of the murderer or murderers of A. W. Ross at Glendale. The most generally accepted theory is that the murder was committed by persons who knew Ross's habit of coming home by the late train Saturday night, and that he was accustomed to alight from the train at the crossing near his house instead of riding on to the depot. His body was found within 100 feet of the depot, showing that he was attacked immediately after leaving the train. He was struck both from behind and in front. He had in his hand a small revolver which he had never carried until a few days ago. It was not cocked, and all the chambers were full showing that he was attacked unawares. The robbery was done so hastily and incompletely as to show that the work was not done by professionals. No weapon was found with which it was thought the murder was committed. The wounds indicate that an iron rod or bar was used. There will be a meeting of the village council of Glendale to-night, and offer a further reward for the arrest of the murderer or murderers.

A BLOT ON CIVILIZATION.

The Mormon Conference.

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 9. The Conference, which adjourned yesterday, was well attended. The talk was more bitter than usual. Cannon said no power on earth nor in hell could check or prevent the onward march of the Kingdom of God. He did not feel defiant, but that he must obey the Lord and be faithful to His commands, whatever penalties man might inflict.

President Taylor said: Any man or set of men who curtail or deprive us of our Constitutional rights are tyrants and oppressors. We intend lawfully to contend for our rights. The Board of Education was restrained by injunction from contracting for school books for the public schools which contain forty per cent. of Mormon sectarian matter. Returns of registration have been published showing 34,000 names four out of nine being men, and three out of four Mormons.

Murder and Robbery.

A Wealthy Banker Shot.

WAUBACA, Wis., Oct. 9. A daring murder and bank robbery occurred here last night, the victim being H. C. Mead, a wealthy Banker in business here for thirty years. He was an eccentric bachelor, sixty years old, and slept in the bank and boarded at a Hotel. This morning he failed to appear at breakfast and dinner, and a messenger was sent to the bank which he found locked. Going to the back window he discovered a wire screen out, the window let down from the top and Mead lying in a pool of blood on the floor. His head and face were horribly mangled with shot as if both barrels of a double-barrelled shot gun had been discharged at him from a short range. It is supposed the assasin shot him from the window while he was sitting at a table writing. The safe had been unlocked and the assassin carried off several thousand dollars in currency, gold and bonds. The exact amount is not known. No clue to the murderer.

NEW YORK.

The Brooklyn Bridge.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. The Trustees of the Brooklyn Bridge this afternoon appointed Mayor Grace, of New York, and Mayor Low, of Brooklyn, a committee to inquire into the administration of the financial affairs of the bridge since 1875.

The President and Cabinet.

President Arthur with all the members of his Cabinet, excepting Chandler, leave to-morrow evening on the Fall River line for Boston.

NOT AN ENVIABLE EXPERIENCE

Accident to a Special Train with the Boston Ideal Company.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 9. A special train from Hartford to this city this afternoon, bringing the Boston Ideal Opera Company, ran off an open switch in the Springfield freight yards, and the engine was buried two feet in the ground, although both cars kept the track and nobody was hurt.

COURT HOUSE BURNED.

All the Books and Papers Destroyed.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 9. The Court House and contents at Altamont were burned last night. Not a book or paper was saved.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Poisoned by Cheese.

LONDON, Oct. 9. Thirty persons have been poisoned here by eating head cheese manufactured by local butchers. The physicians attribute the trouble to the bristles which had been chopped up with the skins of the pork, causing irritation of the stomach's inner coating, producing spasms and vomiting. Some of the sufferers are very low, but it is supposed that some will recover.

Irish Affairs.

A correspondent writes to the Times stating that as a concession to the feelings of the Catholic clergy throughout Ireland all the bishops except Archbishop McCabe have extended general permission to the priests of dioceses to take part in the Mansion House evicted tenants aid movement, and in the new labor league and industrial union founded by Mr. Parnell. The writer says that several minor church dignitaries have consequently become presidents of branches of the League, and will in that capacity participate in the Dublin conference.

The Breach Widening.

VIENNA, Oct. 9. The breach between the Sultan and Khedive is widening and seems likely to lead to an open rupture.

A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.—No family should be without some efficacious remedy for the cure of affections so universally prevalent as coughs, colds, sore throat, whooping-cough and croup—some remedy, too, which can be relied on as safe, sure and certain. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is the article required.

THE HEIGHT OF FOLLY.

To wait until you are in bed with disease you may not get over for months, is the height of folly, when you might be easily cured during the early symptoms by Parker's Ginger Tonic. We have known sickly families made the healthiest, by a timely use of this pure medicine.—Observer.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM SOLVED.

The desire for stimulants is becoming a monstrous evil, and how to overcome it is a serious question with reformers. Parker's Ginger Tonic fairly solves the difficult problem. It invigorates body and mind without intoxicating, and has brought health and happiness to many desolate homes.—Enquirer. See other columns.

LOCAL MATTERS.

There are now fifteen inmates at the Old Ladies' Home.

Hon. L. R. King, of Caribou, was in the city last evening.

The cotton mills at Augusta were expected to start up yesterday.

There are now twenty inmates in the county jail, two of them females.

The Unitarian Sunday School on Sunday last reelected the old board of officers.

The harbor is filled with vessels and our docks present an animated appearance.

Last Saturday 6,770 bushels of potatoes were received at the Caribou starch factory.

The Maine Central train from Portland was an hour late arriving in the city last evening.

A boy was arrested by the police yesterday for truancy and was carried to the station house.

Another superb day was experienced yesterday; the sky was clear and the temperature warm.

There will be a Grand Army excursion from Dover to the Katahdin Iron Works on Saturday next.

Work on the new mills of the Smith Planing Mill Company, of Brewer, is progressing satisfactorily.

Officer Gordon was greatly improved in health yesterday and it is expected will shortly be on duty again.

A large owl measuring three feet and a half from tip to tip was shot at Greenfield on Saturday and will be mounted at Bowler's.

The association for the advancement of women will hold their tenth Congress in Portland City Hall on the 11th, 12th and 13th.

The little girl who dropped a leather mitten trimmed with fur, in our office Saturday evening, can have the same by calling for it.

The special committee to which the Lyon's horse case was referred will meet in the Aldermen's room this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

A drive in the country is now thoroughly enjoyable and the brilliant coloring of the foliage adds materially to the general attractiveness.

Mr. J. A. Clue, of Boston, is in the city in the interest of the Indexed Atlas of the World, recently issued by Rand, McNally & Co., of Chicago.

Mrs. R. W. Morrill, wife of Hon. Anson P. Morrill, of Augusta, died quite suddenly Sunday morning, aged 73 years. She was a lady of many estimable qualities, and her loss will be deeply deplored by her relatives and friends. She has been unwell for some time and her death was not unexpected.—Journal.

SCHOOL REUNION. The students of the Milo High School for the years 1856 to 1861 inclusive will hold a reunion at Milo on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, 1882, afternoon and evening. All schoolmates and teachers of those years are invited to attend and bring their wives and husbands. Free entertainment will be furnished these from abroad.

COL. FARNHAM'S GOOD FORTUNE. A magnificent deer arrived in the city last evening and was exhibited at York's market on East Market Square. The animal was killed by Col. A. B. Farnham, our worthy Postmaster, in the vicinity of the lakes back of Springfield, and weighed when dressed 238 pounds. The deer was a large and beautiful one, and the antlers are unusually handsome. The head will be mounted by Mr. Bowler, the taxidermist. We congratulate the Colonel on his good fortune in capturing such a prize.

KILLED BY A PEACH STONE. Two weeks ago last Sunday George Ross, of Chebeague Island, Portland harbor, while eating peaches swallowed a peach stone, which stuck in his throat. Efforts were made to get it up, but failed. Then the doctor, as he supposed, pushed it down, and this was the belief of the patient, but Mr. Ross continued to fail and died Friday. The post mortem examination showed that the stone cut through to one side of the throat instead of passing down into the stomach, and there caused inflammation and perhaps blood poisoning, which resulted in death. He was 36 years old and unmarried.

CRANBERRY ISLE. The Mt. Desert Herald says a little boy of six years, at Cranberry Isle, was the hero of quite a remarkable exploit, last month, rescuing his sister of three years, who had fallen into a deep well, said to be eighteen or more feet, and containing, notwithstanding the drouth, five or six feet of water. He pushed back the curb and went down, bringing her up in his arms over the rocks uninjured. Then with rare thoughtfulness, undressed and put her to bed, getting in also himself to get her warm and dry before his mother returned from an errand.

ASTRONOMICAL. Most of the planets during this month present a very brilliant appearance. Venus is evening star, and can be easily seen before sunset. She is bright enough to cast a perceptible shadow. Saturn is morning star, and one of the most beautiful objects in the October heavens, rising before eight o'clock in the evening. A more eligible opportunity will never be offered to any of us to view this planet, holding as it does a most brilliant appearance in the heavens throughout the entire night. Mercury is evening star until late in the month, then changing and becoming morning star. Mercury can at least, be seen but a very few minutes, and then in close proximity to the sun. Jupiter is a morning star, rising at present before 10 o'clock. The rest of the planets present no marked phases. The new moon makes its appearance on the 19th, coming into conjunction with the planets during the month, from Mercury on the 12th to Jupiter on the 30th, becoming full moon on the 26th and in conjunction with Neptune on that day.

A TROUBLESOME APIARIST. The old veteran bee master, B. S. Torrey, of Bangor, who has stood in the front rank of apiarists throughout New England for more than thirty years, and who has for the last 25 years worn the title of Honey King of Maine, is still winning new laurels wherever he exhibits his bees and honey apparatus. At the recent State Fair in Lewiston the following prizes were awarded: Best sample of honey, R. S. Torrey, $10; 2nd, G. W. P. Jerrard, of Caribou, Aroostook county, $10; Miss Annie Wilbur, 3rd, $5; and Mrs. R. S. Torrey, for strained honey, $5. Bangor Italian Bee Co., display of bee hives, Italian bees and queens, section boxes, honey scales, bee feeders, bee smokers, hiving boxes, comb foundation and a general assortment of bee keepers' supplies, gratuity, $10. We are glad to note the success of Mr. Torrey in this branch of farm economy, it helps so much to sweeten life.

A WORTHY TEACHER GONE TO REST. Miss Carrie A. Dunbar, for a long time teacher of the primary school, corner of Union and First streets, died at the American House, Monday forenoon, after a brief illness, having been in her school part of last Friday, and up to Monday morning her case was not considered dangerous. Miss Dunbar was one of our best teachers. She was earnest, conscientious and faithful to the last. She was never in robust health, but brought great energy to her work and made her school which often numbered over a hundred an entire success. She added singing to her other duties and those who have heard these little primary scholars sing by note as correctly as a grown-up scholar, will not soon forget it. She has taught in the city schools for more than twenty years, having commenced as assistant under the well remembered Miss Thayer. In the death of Miss Dunbar the school department have lost a valuable worker and the school has lost a loving friend and teacher, whose memory will be cherished with many pleasant recollections. The funeral is to be Wednesday afternoon, but the exact time and place will be announced later. As a mark of respect her school was closed Monday noon, to remain so until Thursday morning.

MAINE CENTRAL TIME TABLE. The fall time table on the Maine Central Railroad will go into effect on Monday next. The trains of the E. & N. A. division will all leave the Maine Central depot and Boston time will be used altogether in running, and not Bangor time as formerly over the E. & N. A. The passenger trains for Vanceboro will leave the Maine Central depot at 7:05 A. M. and 7:25 P. M., and depart from the Exchange street depot at 7:15 A. M. and 7:30 P. M., and the trains from Vanceboro will arrive at the Exchange street depot at 6:25 A. M. and 6:35 P. M., and at the Maine Central depot at 6:35 A. M. and 6:45 P. M. A train will leave the Maine Central depot at 7:25 and 11:40 A. M. and 7:25 P. M., and Exchange street depot at 7:30 and 11:45 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. for Oldtown, arriving on return, at Exchange street depot at 8:38 A. M. 2:33 and 6:13 P. M., and at Maine Central depot at 8:55 A. M., 2:40 and 6:20 P. M. There will be no mixed freight and passenger train between here and Mattawamkeag, but three through freight trains will be run each way between Bangor and Vanceboro daily. The passenger trains will leave the Maine Central depot for Portland at 7:15 A. M. and 7:45 P. M., and arrive, on return, at 5:40 A. M. and at 7 P. M.

KATAHDIN IRON WORKS.

A Trip over the B & K I. W. Ry.—A Description of the New Railway Built with Bangor Capital—A Thriving Business Centre in the Midst of the Maine Forests.

Nestling among the hills in the midst of the great forests which stretch far to the northward, lies Katahdin Iron Works, of which much has been published, but of its attractions and importance, the half has not been told. It was recently the privilege of the writer to obtain a brief respite from his accustomed duties and the opportunity was at once embraced to make a trip to this well known retreat. The wisdom of the choice was shortly made manifest; the tour was in all respects most delightful, and its various incidents will long be held in pleasant memory.

Leaving Bangor, one passes along the shore of the noble Penobscot, till Oldtown is reached, and thence over the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad to Milo, where the waters of the beautiful Piscataquis are encountered. The Piscataquis Railroad continues up the fertile valley through many thriving villages, but unfortunately stops before reaching its objective goal,—Moosehead Lake. There is excellent prospect that the road to Greenville will ere very long be an accomplished fact, and there is no reason why this line may not then enjoy a deserved era of prosperity. That a promising future is in store for that section is plainly evident. Piscataquis county has natural resources and advantages rarely equalled. The immense iron deposits at Katahdin Iron Works, the extensive slate deposits at Brownville, Monson and Blanchard, the vast timber growth which covers great tracts of the northern portion, the fertile soil in the valleys and intervales, and, especially, the rapidly growing pleasure resorts at Katahdin Iron Works and Moosehead Lake, to which an added interest is imparted by the abundance of fish and game, make the future bright with promise.

At Milo Junction, our course takes us away from the Piscataquis Railroad, and over the new Bangor and Katahdin Iron Works Railway. The building of this line was purely a Bangor enterprise, but the wisdom of the undertaking has already been demonstrated, and the energetic citizens, who inaugurated the movement and carried it to completion largely by the expenditure of their own money, have already had the pleasure of witnessing its success assured beyond peradventure. The line is between nineteen and twenty miles in length, and runs from Milo Junction, through Milo, Brownville, North Brownville, thence to the Iron Works. It is built of the standard gauge, is well equipped with rolling stock, and the road-bed of the first ten miles is in excellent condition, while the upper end of the line is being rapidly ballasted, a large crew of men and a construction train being employed all of the time. The scenery along the line is grandly beautiful. Sebec river is crossed and in a brief time the rushing waters of Pleasant River come into view, and along the banks of this romantic water course we wind our way for many miles. Not very long after leaving North Brownville, we enter the forest and penetrate through dense timber growth, still following along the shore of Pleasant River, whose swiftly dashing and brightly sparkling water is almost continually in view. The ride through the woods is highly attractive, especially in the full glory of autumn, when the brilliantly colored foliage gives a wonded charm to all the surroundings. Within a mile and a half of our journey's end a substantial bridge transports us over Pleasant River at one of its most expansive points, and a few brief moments suffice to bring the passenger to the Iron Works, almost under the shadow of the great furnace, whose unceasing fires are brightly burning. Two trains are run over the B. & K. I. W. R'y. daily each way, and a good quota of passengers and a large amount of freight are transported. Substantial freight houses are now completed at the several stations, and the road is equipped for a large business. With the slate and lumber product from Brownville, and the iron output of the Iron Works, a steady traffic is assured, while the carrying of lumber supplies for the operations of J. W. Palmer & Co., at the Gulf, and of other lumbermen still further northward, is a most important item. O. W. Davis, Jr., of Bangor, is President of the B. & K. I. W. R'y., and Henry McLaughlin, also of this city, is Treasurer and Superintendent. Where, in former times, nearly an entire day was required to make the trip from Bangor to the Works, the passage is now made in about four hours, and by another season, when the road-bed is placed in first class condition, the time of transit will be still further shortened. The managers have plans in view which will add to the attractiveness of the journey and also materially advance the business of the road. Persons familiar with the long and tiresome ride by buckboard, from Milo to the Works, will especially appreciate the advantages presented by a passage by rail the whole distance.

Katahdin Iron Works is an industrial centre of no small proportions. The visitor is at once impressed with the bustle and activity everywhere noticed. Here, in the midst of the Maine forests, has been, built up through the active and energetic efforts of O. W. Davis, Jr., a great and prosperous enterprise which gives employment to several hundred persons, and has led to the establishment of a thriving hamlet in what had hitherto been a wilderness. Here is also to be found a large and commodious public house under the charge of a superior landlord, where excellent accommodations are furnished and where large numbers, Bangor being especially well represented, pass the summer and fall months. The scenery in the vicinity is well nigh unsurpassed, the air is refreshing and invigorating and the attractions offered as a place of pleasure resort are very numerous. Katahdin Iron Works is rapidly coming to the front and is destined to enjoy deserved prominence in the future. We shall ere long describe the interesting and extensive operations carried on at the Iron Works, and also refer more in detail to the many attractions of that vicinity.

Notes.

Baird's Minstrels played in Rockland Saturday night to the largest house ever known there. The sale of seats for Wednesday evening's performance at the Opera House is now in progress.

Annie Pixley will appear at the Opera House next week in her new play entitled "Zara."

Edwin Booth has purchased lately ten acres of land in Middletown, near Newport, R. I., and a summer house is now in process of erection on the site. The style of the house is Queen Anne, 30x35 feet. Irregularity, and everywhere fire-places, bay windows and verandas are features.

CITY AFFAIRS.

The City Council held a special meeting last evening and transacted the following business:

IN BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Order for purchase of 500 feet of hose for Fire Department taken from table and passed in concurrence.

The Committee on Pauper Department submitted a report recommending the purchase of the Jewett farm for the benefit of the Pauper Department. The buildings are in condition to relieve the immediate wants of the Department in the care of the insane with very little outlay. The report contemplates such purchase as the best means of obtaining relief at the earliest possible time.

In the Common Council a minority report was submitted recommending the immediate erection of a separate building in the vicinity of the Alms House. Both the majority and the minority reports were tabled and an order originating in the lower Board for the Committee on Pauper Department to cause such a building as was contemplated in the minority report to be erected, was also tabled in this Board.

New Advertisements.

This firm make a specialty of choice flours and have built up a large trade. Mr. Patten is well known in this city and vicinity and his many friends will be pleased to learn of his growing success.

J. Waterman announces that he has an extra large and superior stock of men's and boy's fine suits and overcoats at prices which defy competition.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

October (Civil) Term.

Hon. JOHN A. PETERS, Justice Presiding.
RUEL SMITH, Clerk.
MISS ABBIE PULSIFER, Stenographer.
Monday, Oct. 9.

Isaiah S. Emery vs. Melvin Preble. In this action the plaintiff sues the defendant for $100 in a count for so much money had and received by defendant to the plaintiff's use.

Oct. 20th, 1879, the defendant received from the plaintiff $100, which the plaintiff paid for "one sixty-fourth of the mine known as Garland's," but did not take a deed of the property although, as the plaintiff says, he demanded the deed several times while the property was supposed to be valuable, but it was not tendered until the property was known to be worthless, when the plaintiff refused to receive it and claimed his right to recover back the amount paid. Verdict for plaintiff, $117.87.

Humphrey & Appleton. H. J. Preble.

Police Court.

Horace Longley was arraigned before the police court yesterday on the charge of larceny of a bosom pin. The complainant was Joseph H. Whittier. Longley was convicted and sentenced to jail for thirty days.

There were several attractions on the Fair Grounds of a sportive nature. Mr. Geo N. Rogers, of Bangor, came out here on a bicycle and rode about town, much to the astonishment of many of the townsmen, and in the evening at the hall, before dancing commenced, he performed with ease, some difficult tricks on his bicycle, but owing to the chandelier hanging so low in the centre of the hall, he was unable to perform some of his most daring feats.

The hall was filled to overflowing with dancers, over one hundred tickets were sold, and on the whole, the affair was a success.

HEART DISEASE

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Many people think themselves sick and look for kidney or liver troubles or dyspepsia, while if the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart

The renowned Dr Glendinning, startlingly says "one third of my clients show signs of heart disease"

The heart weighs about nine ounces and yet man's two hundred pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a half resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention

Dr Grants a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and Hildred diseases. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express Send stamp for Dr Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is left on at the office Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return across the end hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Gentlemen's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and state, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $2.20 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

TESTIMONIALS:

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

CHAS MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trust worthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,

late Commissioner of Patents."

Boston, October 10, 1878.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir you procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases and procured many patents, reissues and extensions I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you the whole of my business to your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.
